“It’s casual Friday”

Participants must pay to wear their jeans or casual clothes to work!

Appeal to the stomach!

Host a bake sale, sell coffee, organize a pizza or sub lunch, etc.

Fill that jar...

It’s amazing how quickly “loose change” adds up especially if you can create a friendly competition between divisions, departments etc.

“Tacky Tuesday”

Compete to see who can wear the worst outfit to work. All participants pay a fee. The winner wins a small prize and the remaining funds are donated to Ability Online!

Plan a Potluck party

Have everyone bring in something homemade and have a buffet lunch. Donate the money you would have spent buying your lunch that day.

Photo Contest

Everyone brings a baby picture and post them on a bulletin board (can also be done online). The object is to see who can name each photo correctly. The person who submits a sheet and guesses the most photos correctly wins the game and a small prize, with the rest of the proceeds supporting Ability Online!

Hold a 50/50 draw

The person with the winning ticket “wins” along with Ability Online!

Visual Inspiration

Put up a profile of the child you are supporting and track your progress. $1000 gives a non-verbal child a voice (iPad and communication software) or $2500 gives a wonderful (and therapeutic!) childhood experience - an adapted bike to ride with friends in the neighbourhood.

Silent Auction

Bid silently on items such as extra vacation days, longer lunch breaks, VIP parking spots, dinner passes, casual days, etc.
